THE EVENING STAR.

WASHINGTON: TUESDAY ...... November 3, 1885. CROSBY S. NOYES.....Editor

The Evening Star has a regular, permanent bona fide daily circulation more than treble Hyscinths, Tulips, Crocuses, &c., chesp. that of any other daily paper published in Washington, and equal to that of all the other daily papers here added together.

The new mayor of Baltimore, Mr. James Hodges, comes out point-blank in favor of "the spoils system." He says he wishes it distinctly understood that the offices belong to the party that wins. This is candid at least; and now if the democratic party will incorporate that plank in their platform in 1888, and nominate Mr. Hodges or some equally out-spoken man upon it, there will not be so much misunderstanding within the party either before or after the election as to what is meant by democratic

It is understood that the "millionaire" denounced by the New York Sun yesterday as the party disposed to sell out the state ticket of New York to elect his local candidates, was Mayor Grace. The New York World to-day specifies Grace by name as the person reputed to be sacrificing every other democratic candidate to enable him to elect officers to get control of the board of apportionment, the most important body in the city government, as it practically controls the expenditures of the

So the late William Allen is to stand beside Garfield as Ohio's second contribution to our national Walhalla in the old hall of representatives. As the deceased politician was such a devoted friend of the greenback, it might be a good idea to have his statue made of the macerated pulp of the currency now worked up so artfully into images, and busts of the illustrious

The reduction of the public debt for October was $13,276,774, or about twenty cents from every man, woman and child in the United States. For a poor laboring man, that is, with a wife and three children, it represents a tax of one dollar for the month. Nor is this view of the case so unfair as it might seem, for the taxes from which the surplus revenue comes are laid in large measure on the necessities of life.

Now that Fish and Ward are both in prison serving their term, the next step is to find out and bring to justice their secret confederates. A report was started yesterday that Mayor Grace was now to be prosecuted, but this is denied though coupled with hints of sensational developments, implicating other leading citizens,

The polls opened to-day with all parties cocksure of success and yet very anxious. The latest news from New York shows that the state is really in doubt and will be so till the last vote is polled. The majority, one way or the other, will probably be very small, and "bets are

GOODS THAT EVERYBODY WANTS

At just the time they are most wanted and at the lowest prices compatible with good qualities. These are what we try to give to you at all times, and what we are specially determined to offer during the coming week.

Money was what the manufacturer wanted, and Cloaks were what he had to offer for it. We had the money—we always keep a snug sum in readiness for just such an emergency—and we let him have it. Now we have the Cloaks and the manufacturer the money. But he for a the week is over was that have our money. But before the week is over we shall have our mon back again, and 10,000 ladies in Washington will each have a new Cloak, bought just at the proper time, for about half its value, while several thousands more will be wishing that they had been fortunate enough to secure a share of these wonderful bargains viz:

WE MAY NOT HAVE

The largest, handsomest, and most elabortely decorated show rooms in the country, but when it comes to buying where the dollar meets its equal every time, and often gets "bested," here is the place, and the time is Now.

We were never before able to offer such a stock of goods, at such low prices as now prevail, being in many cases a lower price than goods of a similar character have ever been known to

As an illustration we quote Blankets, our prices for which, notwithstanding the heavy advance in wool, remain the same.

By way of another, take Underwear. It would cost us an advance of 10 to 15 per cent to duplicate this stock to-day, yet our prices are not only not advanced, but are way below the prices prevailing elsewhere.

As another, take Dress Goods. We may have bought a little too extensively, but the low prices and extra good values seemed to justify the purchase. As it is we have inaugurated a grand reduction sale, including the best, most desirable and most fashionable wool fabrics in the market, marked at such low prices (if this be an inducement), destined to sweep this stock down to the lowest permissible minimum.

An attempt to enumerate all the values contained in our establishment would be more than futile. We can only quote here and there and leave you to surmise the rest.
